Appels Division of Plant Industry CSIRO P. O. Box 1600 A. C. T. AUSTRALIA Modern physical science gives us no model to explain the re duplication of the gene-string in each cell generation, or to explain the production of effective quantities of specific enzymes or other agents by specific genes. The precise pairing and inter change of segments by homologous gene-strings at meiosis also suggest novel physical properties of this form of matter. Stadler (1954) The very strong influence of reductionism in the history of understanding chromosome structure and function is evident in the above quotation from Stadlers 1954 paper, The gene. Early observations on the constancy of the cytological appearance of chromosomes and their regular behaviour in cell division led to speculation on their biological importance. As genetics became more refined in the early decades of the 20th century the genes-on-a string model of chromosomes developed and greater emphasis was placed on the further dissection of these structures. As a result, in the 1980s the reductionist approach is reaching a crest as extensive regions of the genetic material are being sequenced. This item ships from multiple locations.
