CreateSpace Independent Publishing Platform. Paperback. Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. 456 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 1.0in. This is a first publication of its kind elaborating service based architectural design for automation of mergers and acquisitions developed in line with strategy and enterprise architecture. First chapter starts with Strategy and Foundation of Enterprise-Architecture. Business Strategy defines the business services to achieve desired profit, growth and competitive advantage under all circumstances at minimal cost. Based on Business Strategy, IT Strategy evolves, which leads to IT Foundation composed of IT Capability Model and IT Operating Model. Enterprise Architecture incorporates SOA, TOGAF, COBIT, ITIL and our proprietary frameworks to design each phase of M and A architecture in order to achieve service based strategic enterprise architecture for M and A. Second chapter presents development of Business Architecture (BA) in line with strategy, which elaborates the M and A business illustrated with Frameworks, Business Motivation Model, Organizational Structure, Value-added Chain, Key Performance Indicators, Key Risk Indicators, Strategy and Tactics, Business Scenarios, Business Process Model, Business Services, Use Cases, Capability Models and Business Services. Capability based planning approach supported with alignment framework applies SOA to transform business functionalities into business capabilities and business services. The business architecture is built with the vision of enterprise architecture wherein consolidated business services are directly mapped into IT services for business-aligned, agile and effective IT solution. Business architecture of M and A includes the domain functionalities like organization structure, motivational and strategic requirements, due-diligence, classification and combination, legal services, financing, accounting, taxes, negotiation and deal structure, risk and performance management, takeover, bid strategy, defensive techniques, commissioning and post-merger integration, synergy realization. Information System, Data and Application Architectures are elaborated. Information system consolidates the core functional and data services of M and A, which acts as development..
